

Robots with rhythm: Boston Dynamics' dancing androids a hit

December 31 2020

Credit: Boston Dynamics

These robots have rhythm.

Boston Dynamics released scary robot videos, but this one is clearly a playful attempt to close the books on 2020.

"Our whole crew got together to celebrate the start of what we hope will be a happier year," the Waltham, Massachusetts, company says in the caption.

Thousands applauded the robots' moves and the technology powering them. Others appeared to be a little freaked out by their dexterity.

"Slightly creepy, I have to admit," tweeted Carl Bildt, a Swedish diplomat who co-chairs the European Council on Foreign Relations.

"Do you love me? Not when you come to annihilate us," tweeted Jan Nicolas, a photographer.

© 2020 The Associated Press. All rights reserved. This material may not be published, broadcast, rewritten or redistributed without permission.

Citation: Robots with rhythm: Boston Dynamics' dancing androids a hit (2020, December 31) retrieved 25 April 2024 from

<https://techxplore.com/news/2020-12-robots-rhythm-boston-dynamics-androids.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.
--