

Spotify tests audiobooks of classics including 'Persuasion,' 'Frankenstein'

January 25 2021

Spotify is launching a series of audiobooks, recordings of works of classic literature available in the public domain

Streaming giant Spotify is extending its foray into audiobooks, dropping nine new public-domain classics narrated by celebrities including Hilary

Swank and Forest Whitaker.

The platform known best for its music has used podcasts to drive growth since 2019, and recently began bolstering its audiobook selection.

A Spotify spokesperson told AFP the launch is part of "tests in an effort to improve our user experience."

"Some of those tests end up paving the path for our broader user experience and others serve only as an important learning," the spokesperson for the Swedish company said, without elaborating.

In May 2020 Spotify released an audio version of "Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone," the first volume in the beloved series.

Daniel Radcliffe—who played the bespectacled wizard on film—was among the celebrities who read chapters.

And in August, the group began recruiting a head of audiobooks, a sign of ambition in the market dominated by the Amazon-owned Audible.

The nine available titles include Mary Shelley's "Frankenstein"—narrated by David Dobrik, the memoir "Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, an American Slave" read by Whitaker, and Jane Austen's "Persuasion" recorded by Cynthia Erivo. Swank read Kate Chopins "The Awakening."

The books are broken up by chapter into episodes and are available for free globally. Because the works are in the public domain, Spotify does not need to pay to license them before recording their own versions.

The platform has also uploaded an audio analysis series entitled "Sitting with the Classics," hosted by Harvard literature professor Glenda Carpio.

© 2021 AFP

Citation: Spotify tests audiobooks of classics including 'Persuasion,' 'Frankenstein' (2021, January 25) retrieved 8 December 2023 from <https://techxplore.com/news/2021-01-spotify-audiobooks-classics-persuasion-frankenstein.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.