

Abu Dhabi, Wizz Air to launch new low-cost carrier

2 March 2020

Launched in 2003 by oil-rich Abu Dhabi, Etihad has faced stiff competition from Dubai's Emirates and Qatar Airways, and it posted losses in the past three years.

Airlines in the Arab states of the Gulf have faced a double hit from oil price fluctuations and regional political tensions.

© 2020 AFP

New low-cost airline Wizz Air Abu Dhabi is to launch operations from the Emirati capital in the second half of 2020. An Airbus A321 of Hungary-based Wizz Air is seen flying over the parliament building in Budapest on May 1, 2016

New low-cost airline Wizz Air Abu Dhabi is to launch operations from the United Arab Emirates capital Abu Dhabi in the second half of 2020, the partners in the venture announced Monday.

State-owned Abu Dhabi Developmental Holding Company and Budapest-based Wizz Air said they "concluded the definitive agreement" to set up the new airline.

"Wizz Air Abu Dhabi plans to start operations in the second half of the year," they said in a joint statement.

The venture will compete with another joint venture between Abu Dhabi's giant Etihad Airways and Sharjah's low-cost Air Arabia, to be launched in the first half of this year.

Like Wizz Air Abu Dhabi, Air Arabia Abu Dhabi will operate from Abu Dhabi International Airport.

APA citation: Abu Dhabi, Wizz Air to launch new low-cost carrier (2020, March 2) retrieved 25 January 2021 from <https://techxplore.com/news/2020-03-abu-dhabi-wizz-air-low-cost.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.